IF YOU DON'T, WHO WILL?
In order to keep our arms program going fullblast through the winter months the steel mills are going to need 17,000,000 tons of scrap metal during the last six months of 1942. That statement comes from no less an authority than Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the War Production Board.
Consider these figures:
It takes 600 lbs. of scrap metal for a 2,000 lb. bomb.
It takes 15 tons of scrap metal for a medium tank.
It takes 3 tons of scrap metal for a 3-inch anti-aircraft gun.
And it takes 20,000 tons of scrap metal for a 35,000 ton battleship.
If we're going to win this war we have bombs, tanks, anti-aircraft guns and fighting ships, plus thousands of other things. We can't have those things without metal.
Who is going to provide this enormous amount of metal? What good will your 24, 50 or 100 pounds do when such a vast amount is needed? The answer should be obvious to all of us.
If each and everyone of us doesn't turn in each and every piece of scrap that we can lay our hands on, then we won't raise 17,000,000 tons, and our plans won't keep running, and our soldiers won't have weapons, and... if you want to be realistic about it... we won't be winning this war.
It's not too late to search your house, your garage, your barn. If you've searched once, try again. By October 10 when the special late-war salvage drive ends, the Virginia want to show the nation that we have met the crisis and triumphed.
MANPOWER TO WIN
The American people have begun to realize that the war may be won or lost by the way we allocate our vital resources; and among these is our manpower.

NOT THE WHOLE ISSUE
It is our opinion that the emphasis being on farm prices in the current anti-inflation legislation before Congress is out of proportion to other factors involved. The importance of keeping farm income in line with national business trends cannot be over-emphasized, but it is appears from the discussions going on in Washington that inflation can be halted if farm commodities do not advance in price.

Our concept of inflation is that it is the financial maladjustment of too much loose buying power in relation to purchasable goods.
This maladjustment should be tackled from all angles. Surplus buying power can best be controlled through taxation. But do we hear the merits of a great wartime sales tax dominating the current Congressional debate? Likewise, a control over wages can curb buying power. Wages, nationally, have advanced more than the entire farm income. But wage control is left on a flexible basis, we read. So is a wage withholding plan, or compulsory savings through War Bonds.
From the opposite direction, inflation can be tackled from the angle of providing more consumer goods from non-vital raw materials. This can be done by increasing the working hours of non-essential industry beyond the present average of slightly over forty.
The farmer is not holding up the attack on inflation. He is getting a lot of undeserved bad publicity.

FUEL OIL—AND WATER
(From The Newport News Times Herald)
If you are depending on fuel oil for heating your home this winter you are not going to get what you had hoped to get. Fuel oil is being rationed in the East—and many homes are going to be cold unless their owners do something about it.
There is a vast amount of heat leakage in the homes of this area. It is a far-seeing and courageous nation that decides such issues clearly. For in the emotion and strain of war, it is easy to be engulfed in the materialism that says that dollars and machines will do it. In the modern war that nation will win which makes the best use of its total resources. We must modify our strength for the home-front as well as for the battle-front. For we cannot win one without the other. This takes some of us back 50 years or more to cold winters in the country.
Weather stripping is almost indispensable. But due to the shortage of critical materials I cannot be done to any great extent now. This brings us to the problem of keeping the heat in and the cold out by some other method. And this takes some of us back 50 years or more to cold winters in the country.
In every room in the house all the windows save one can be sealed with paper strips or with ragged tape and you have no idea how much heat it is on a cold night.
Keeping comfortable is going to require a return to this and other practices long since abandoned.

China in her war with Japan has lost, in killed and wounded, about as many soldiers as the total population of Texas, more than 10 million the population of Philadelphia, cannot be over-emphasized, but it is appears from the discussions going on in Washington that inflation can be halted if farm commodities do not advance in price.

IMPROVED SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson
By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D.
Lesson subjects and Scripture texts suggested by the International Council of Religious Education, used by permission.

Lesson for October 4
GOLDEN TEXT—Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ. Romans 5:1.

FAITH IN CHRIST AS OUR PERSONAL SAVIOUR
LESSON TEXT—Acts 16:31; Romans 9:11.

Salvation through Christ is the way, and the only way, into the Christian life; therefore there could be no other subject more suitable than that of our lesson to begin our brief series of "Studies in the Christian Life."

Our lesson for today tells us that how one comes into the Christian life, and then gives Paul's statement of the result of saving faith in the changed life of the believer.

I. The Opened Heart (Acts 16:31-35)
Scripture and its companions on their important errand for the Master, bearing the news of the gospel, had not known how to handle the situation, by the closed door, and then by the direction of the Spirit to the open door, revealed in the vision of the man of Macedonia. Here in Philippi Paul found an open door, but an open heart, one which the Holy Spirit had made ready for the preaching of the Word of God. "Faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the word of God" (Rom. 10:17).

Note that Lydia was a woman of ability and culture, and a worshiper of God, yet she needed the message of redemption through faith in Christ.

Lydia evidenced the truth of her profession of faith by open testimony and by a desire for fellowship in furthering the work of God (v. 4). Salvation is by faith apart from works, but a saving faith is always one which works.

The Transformed Life (Rom. 5:1-11)
This is one of the great passages of Scripture, rich in doctrinal instruction, presenting through Paul an illuminating discussion of justification by faith.

This lesson affords an opportunity for teachers to lead and present to classes much needed truth along the line of Bible doctrine. There is not a single verse in this type. People seem to prefer a little devotional study, or the discussion of current events, possibly in the light of prophecy. These are good, but it is of first importance that Christians be informed regarding doctrine.

We find in this Scripture the glorious transformation of life which comes to the one who takes Christ as Saviour, as we note the seven results of God's justifying grace.

1. Peace (v. 1). The human heart craves spiritual peace and knows that he can be found only when sin has been dealt with and put away. For sin cannot be condoned or ignored. There must be justification, and that can come only through Jesus Christ our Lord.

2. Grace (v. 2). A peace with God brings the peace of God into our hearts. We have that peace because we have by faith received the place of God's favor. No longer strangers or outsiders, we have come in ("have access") to His place of grace and favor.

3. Hope (vv. 2b, 5a). Our faith not only brings present peace, but causes us to see future glory. Such a hope puts us in a right attitude toward God, and the things of life, including tribulations (v. 3), are rightly valued and understood. Even our troubles become evidences of His love in which we may glory.

4. Love (vv. 5b-8). God's love which gave His Son to die for our sins becomes the "shedd blood" portion of every believer in Him. It was an immeasurably great love, and it all centers in Calvary.

5. Saved From Wrath (v. 9). The wrath of God is minimized or denied in much modern theology, and it is nonetheless a very "real and awful" effect of the divine nature. But the sure deliverance from sinners will surely deliver the saints from the wrath of God against sin.

6. Reconciled (v. 10). The death of Christ, which justified man has accepted by faith, brought reconciliation. Atonement had been made for sin, and the One who died is alive again, a living Saviour.

7. Joy (v. 11). And why not? Such revelation of what our redemption includes should make every believer in Christ rejoice in God. The one who is in a right attitude is the believer's joy! That is the glorious transformation which takes place when one believes.

Some unbeliever who has read these lines thus far must by now be eager to have these things true in his life. Well, why not? "Be thou shalt be saved" (Acts 16:31). Then read again those majestic and joyful words in Romans 5:1-11. "Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ."
